a "slim fit" (some companies even sell "ultra slim fit" or similar) shirt is tailored so that you have much less front for the same amount of neck.

we treat the problem at the root source so that it can't come back loose and scramble for clues. i've seen people feel embarrassed that they're using something