Brent, words can never completely express my gratitude for what you have done for my brother and my family.

For the first time, nobody really expected me to have a good handle on making appointments, or responding to letters about jury duty, or anything like that.

You are aware of what's going on around you but you don't give a damn.