Why is it that one-third of adults worldwide have high blood pressure, when in 1900 only 5 percent had high blood pressure? he asked.