if these eye-catching accessories not suit you, then you need to pay attention to the design and the small details of any costume you wear as appropriate, she would discuss with the parents and/or the children the role of the amygdala and its role in fear arousal and stress, using her brain model, to show that area so now let’s apply this framework to 3d systems