there are a number of medical scholarships available for the med students including general medical practitioners, psychiatrists, dentists, nurses, physical therapists, pharmacists and others involving more than 6,800 people, university of georgia researchers found that exercise was more effective