while there are no recent ipc benchmarks, there are approximations like single core tests look at it like a (gross) time share investment; it makes you go